THE South-
Carolina GAZETTE.
May 18th, 1752. [NUMB. 938.]

LONDON, February 22

SOME industrious and well diſpoſed perſons have it under conſideration, to cauſe a manufacture of Flax, Thread, and a particular ſort of Linnen Cloth to be ſet up in the vicinity of this Metropolis, where all who are inclined to work, may find ſomething to do within the compaſs of their Capacity and Strength, and receive a juſt and equitable conſideration for their Labour, ſo that none who deſerve Bread, may be in danger of ſtarving.

According to ſome of the accounts brought by the Swallow packet from India, the Engliſh and French don't live in a very neighbourly manner: The former having ſet up a flag-ſtaff at a place not far from Pondicherry, M. Dupliex deſired it might be removed, as being upon the French boundary, as he pretended; and this not being complied with, he ordered it to be beat down with cannon, which was accordingly done.

The loſs of the two enginiers ſent to put our ſettlements in the East-Indies in a better poſture of defence, is ſo much the more to be lamented, as the French are growing ſo powerful in thoſe parts, and may poſſibly do ſome Miſchief, before others can be ſent over in the room of the deceaſed.

The Prince George, Mackenzie, from South-Carolina, is loſt off the bar of Oporto.

There are no leſs than 30 ſail of ſhips now fitting out in the river for the Greenland fiſhery, the ſucceſs of which will be of the greateſt advantage to Great-Britain.

We hear, that in the bill for the better preventing theſts and robberies, and for regulating places of public entertainment, and puniſhing perſons keeping diſorderly houſes; it is propoſed, that from and after the 21ſt day of June 1752, any perſon publicly advertiſing a reward with no queſtions aſked, for the return of things which have been ſtolen or loſt, or making uſe of any words in ſuch public advertiſement, purporting that ſuch reward ſhall be given or paid, without ſeizing or making enquiry after the perſon producing ſuch thing ſo ſtolen or loſt, or promiſing, or offering in any ſuch public advertiſement, to return to any pawnbroker or other perſon who may have bought or advanced money by way of loan, upon ſuch thing ſo ſtolen or loſt, the money ſo paid or advanced, or any other ſum of money or reward for the return of ſuch thing; and any perſon printing or publiſhing ſuch advertiſements, ſhall reſpectively forfeit the ſum of fifty pounds for every ſuch offence, to any perſon who will ſue for the ſame.

Advices from Holland ſay, that the concourſe of people, to ſee the Stadtholder's funeral at the Hague and Delft, was ſo great, that windows were let for an hundred and two hundred guilders apiece; and houſes for a thouſand guilders; which is about 100 l. ſterling.

February 25. Admiral Knowles, governor of Jamaica, does not ſet out for that place till April next; and Edward Trelawney, Eſq; the preſent governor, will not ſet out for England till his Arrival there.

Yeſterday there was a very ſmart preſs below bridge for ſailors, which are to be put on board ſeveral men of war lately put into commiſſion; but where they are deſtined is not made public.

We hear, that the right hon. the houſe of commons will ſit every Saturday during the ſeſſion, for the quicker diſpatch of affairs.

We are aſſured, that the proprietors of the Britiſh fiſhery already employ 20,000 people.

It is currently reported, that the lieutenant of a Britiſh man of war at Liſbon, was lately ſeized by order of his Portugueſe majeſty, and afterwards tranſported to Brazil, for carrying the current coin of that kingdom clandeſtinely on board the ſhip to which he belonged.

One of the foreign gazettes by to-day's Holland mail informs us, that in a conference which the D—de M———x lately had with the B—t—ſh miniſtry, he repreſented, That the king, his maſter, could not drop his pretenſions concerning the reſtitution of the prizes made before the year 1744; and that his moſt chriſtian majeſty thought, he had clearly and ſufficiently explained the foundation of his claim. —— To which the ſaid a——ſſ——r received for anſwer: That his majeſty could not conceive how ſuch a reſtitution could be required of him, as there was not the leaſt mention thereof made in the treaty of Aix-la Chapelle: That, beſides, it was a long time ſince thoſe prizes were condemned, and that the produce had been divided amongſt the captors. —— What effect this anſwer had, or is like to have, time muſt diſcover.

Governor Mathew, who has been in England ſome time, will return ſoon to his government of the Leeward Iſlands; as will governor Tinker to his government of the Bahama-Iſlands.

February 27. Tueſday the houſe of peers were pleaſed to put off the bill to change the puniſhment of felony to confinement and hard labour in his majeſty's dock-yards, for ſix weeks, ſo that it's tho't it will not paſs into a law this ſeſſion.

We hear a ſcheme is on foot for a lottery, the tickets to be at 5 l. each, to raiſe money to build houſes in the ſeveral counties in England, for the bringing up of infants, and for the better employing the poor.

The report ſtill continues to gain ground, that 10 ſhips of the line will ſpeedily be fitted out.

The Pruſſian ſhip for India, (being the firſt fitted out by the company at Embden) now in the Downs, had on board a great number of Britiſh ſailors, who have been taken out of her by the men of war's boats.

Private letters from Liſbon take notice, that the king of Portugal is highly incenſed at the practices of the maſters of our packet-boats in particular, and threatens to have the mails carried for the future in veſſels under his own direction and command.

The diſturbance that has happened lately at Liſbon, is ſaid to have been chiefly owing to indiſcretion, and a boiſterous behaviour in ſome who fancy that in other countries the laws may be eluded, or tranſgreſſed, not only with as much impunity, but with as little decency and decorum, as at home. —At preſent they are ſenſible of their miſtake.

We hear from Blandford in Dorſetſhire, that at the ſeat of Henry Drax, Eſq; as the workmen were enlarging the burying-vault of that family, they found 19 jars of gold coin, and half a jar of medals, and under them 9 ſkeletons.

February 29. The mail that arrived laſt thurſday from Liſbon, brought divers letters, which all agree, that the differences with the court of Portugal about clandeſtine trade, were in a fair way of being accommodated.

It is reported, that the Swallow man of war, lately arrived from the Eaſt Indies, brings advice, that the prince in rebellion againſt the Great Mogul, who has hitherto been ſupported by the French, to whom he has granted great privileges, and a large extent of territory, was, with his army, at the departure of the Swallow, within ſight of the Mogul's army, ſupported by the Engliſh; ſo that an engagement was ſuppoſed ſoon likely to enſue. Some therefore imagine, that the formidable ſquadron we are now ſaid to be fitting out, is deſigned to maintain our ſuperiority in the Indian ſeas, where the French have already got a conſiderable naval armament.

The ſhips fitting out for the Weſt-Indies, and to carry the forces to Gibraltar and Port-Mahon, have received orders to get ready for ſailing by the 20th inſtant.

By this day's Liſbon mail, there is advice, that the Delight
